I'm Travis Harley and I don't question it. I have been developing websites for over five years. I'm always learning to advance my skill-set on a regular basis. In that learning, I have also learned best practices for web development, custom WordPress templates, frameworks, API development, Search Engine Optimization (SEO), online marketing, QA testing, UI/UX design and much more. More importantly, I am a master at The Legend of Zelda. I find inspiration from The Beatles and comic books. In my spare time, I like to film short videos and weekends are my jam.
